DEDICAT

FOR HER YEARS OF SERVICE AND QUIET LOYALTY—

WE RESPECTFULLY DEDICATE
THIS 1941 EDITION OF THE STES-
PEAN TO ONE WHO IS AS GENTLE,
TRUE, AND INSPIRING AS MUSIC ITSELF.

ION

TO

MISS KATHERINE VAN DEUSEN SUTPHEN

F O R E W O R D

How oft the printed page outlasts
This busy life we live so fast.
Like wind blown ash of campfires old,
Memory fades and warmth grows cold.

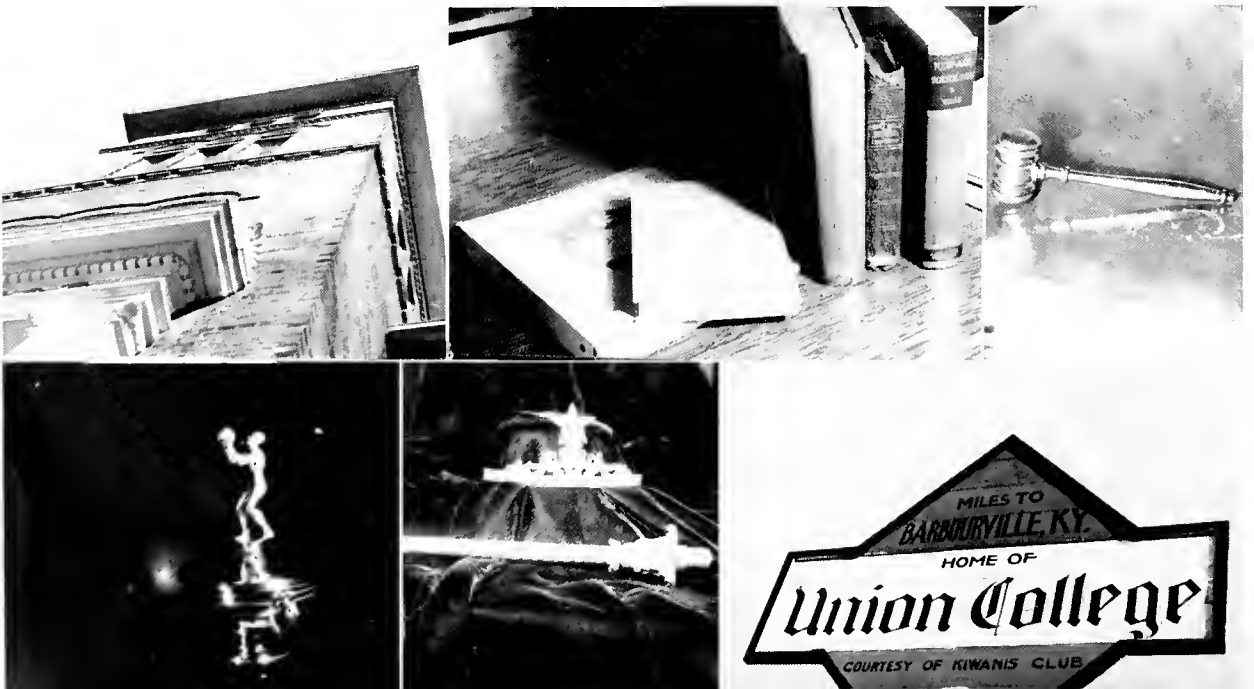

If you should find somewhere within
A stirring thought that brings a grin,
A tear, a sigh, or memory,
You've found it as we hoped 'twould be.

UNION COLLEGE CHORUS

In 1936 the Union College Chorus was organized under the direction of Professor V. M. Smith. Previously, there had been a women's glee club and a men's glee club, the chorus being the result of a combination of the two groups. In the years following its organization, the chorus has given many performances, both sacred and secular—on the campus and in neighboring towns. The annual presentation of Handel's Messiah at Christmas time is one of the group's major activities. Each spring the chorus presents a cantata or oratorio—Mendelssohn's Elijah, 1941; Dubois' Seven Last Words, 1940; Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise, 1939; and Gaul's Holy City, 1938. The group also appears each week at the devotional assembly period.

A chorus trip to sing for the community school at Red Bird, Kentucky, was one of the organization's most enjoyable experiences during the past year. In addition to its choral work, the group each year gives a number of parties and picnics for the members and their friends.

OXFORD CLUB

The Oxford Club belongs in the category of the more active groups on the campus. Composed of those who anticipate the ministry as their life's work, this organization received its name from the group, of which John Wesley was a member, that met each morning at Oxford, England, for devotions. The purpose of the Oxford Club is to instruct ministerial students in ministerial ethics. An opportunity for valuable practical experience was had by each member on the Gospel teams that assisted in programs and conducted numerous services in churches in southeastern Kentucky. The Wednesday morning devotional chapel has many times, during the past year, been conducted by members of this ministerial group. The Oxford Club has operated for the past year under the following officers: president, Jack Cook; vice-president, Russell Lawry; secretary, Owen Snodderly; treasurer, Howard Jaquess; and reporter, Herbert Picht. Professor C. M. Laymon is the faculty adviser for the organization.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Français was established in October, 1931. In monthly meetings, the members have opportunities for the development of taste for French reading and conversation. Club programs have included interesting material on French customs, art, geography, literature, and music. Many pleasant hours have been spent in playing the games and singing the folk-songs of France. Frequently the games are competitive, the winners being presented attractive prizes by Miss Nancy Myers, the sponsor. The secretary prepares a French column for each edition of the school paper, thereby furnishing some reading material of current and local interest for those who are interested in this language. The final meeting of the organization each year is a picnic, for which the club goes to some pleasantly wooded spot in the vicinity of Barbourville. Officers of Le Cercle Français for the past year were: president, Jack Cook; vice-president, Lillian Picht; secretary, Phillip Peters; treasurer, Anna Renfro; reporter, Pauline Lynch; sergeant-at-arms, Ralph York.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club was first organized in 1932 and remained active until 1937 when it dropped out of the list of college organizations. It was reorganized last fall and elected the following members as officers: president, Neal Benjamin; vice-president, Helen McCoy; secretary-treasurer, Geneva Slagle. Dr. H. P. Sturdivant is sponsor for this group. Recent scientific developments and other semi-technical topics of interest pertaining to the field of science have been the topics of discussion for the Science group. The work of the organization contributed greatly to the success of the visit of the world-famous eugenicist, Dr. Paul Popenoe, to the campus.

HISTORY CLUB

The weekly meetings of the History Club have been supplied with ample material for discussion this year due to the rapidly changing political fronts. Its programs have extended over a wide variety of topics from the local political picture to world affairs. Numerous local figures have appeared to lead the discussion for the group. The History Club has sponsored its share of chapel programs, a particularly timely and interesting feature being the straw vote of the College previous to the presidential election. Bashford Power served as president and Dorothy Hansen as secretary for the club through the past year. It is under the dual sponsorship of Dr. James and Professor Stewart.

SECRETARIAL SCIENCE CLUB

Comprised of students interested in the field of business, the Secretarial Science Club has functioned successfully since its organization in the fall of 1939. Meeting bi-monthly, the members have planned and sponsored a number of extra-curricular activities. Particularly to be remembered during the past year is the all-school Halloween Party planned by this organization. A number of club parties and picnics have also added to the social life. The Secretarial Science Club this year was under the direction of the following officers: president, Lewis Setser; vice-president, Irene Boggs; secretary-treasurer, Betty Dizney; and the club's sponsor, Miss Hazel Lincoln.

PLAYLIKERS

Hailed by many as the crowning achievement for the past year on the part of this dramatic group was the presentation of Thornton Wilder's popular Pulitzer Prize play, "Our Town." This three-act production was not the extent of the Playlikers' activity, however. Besides the many phases of drama production studied in the weekly meetings several one-act plays were presented at various times throughout the year. The more active members of this group are pledged to the local Zeta Chi Chapter of the national dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega.

Officers for the Playlikers Club for this year included the following: president, Jean Wilson; vice-president, Wayne Kessel; secretary, Lillian Picht; treasurer, Jack Cook. Miss Stella Ward, dramatics director, is the sponsor for this group.

ART CLUB

The Art Club of Union College was established in 1937. Its purpose is to lend a helping hand whenever its artistic services can be of assistance. This organization has always adjusted the loan exhibits from the Colonial and other art companies. Under the sponsorship of Miss Katherine V. D. Sutphen, it has assisted the decorating committees from campus and town clubs. The Art Club when requested provides publicity posters and invitations for school parties and receptions. This club considers itself as distinctly a working organization and responds immediately when appealed to. The organization in the past year was guided in its activities by the following: president, Irene Sherman; vice-president, Charles Hibbard; secretary, Geneva Lee; and treasurer, Paul Wesley.

ZETA SIGMA PI

Omicron Chapter, affiliated with the national Zeta Sigma Pi fraternity, was established on Union College campus in 1935. It requires of its members an interest and ability in the field of social sciences and an above average standing in their general scholastic work. The local chapter this year was under the presidency of Anna Renfro, and the organization is sponsored by Dr. Wayne T. Gray. Purpose of the fraternity is three-fold: (1) to meet and discuss problems in social science; (2) to do something worthwhile for the campus each year; (3) to aid students in facing life problems after college. Members are elected to the society not only on the basis of scholarship, but also character and leadership.

BETA CHI ALPHA

Beta Chi Alpha Sorority was established several years ago on the Union College campus as an organization whose purposes are to promote an interest in beauty, culture, and art and in making a definite contribution to campus life. Members are elected to the organization by secret ballot on the basis of scholarship, personality, and cooperative spirit. The new pledges are initiated the second semester. Both pledges and members played an important part in the activities of the past year. One of the outstanding social achievements of the group was the all-college "Pop" concert that was held March 28, 1941.

Each meeting of the sorority is constructively conducted by an outside speaker. Such timely and important questions as those of social etiquette and the proper way to dress are discussed at these meetings.

The year was climaxed by a formal banquet which was held in a neighboring town. A number of young men of the college were guests at this affair.

The organization corresponds regularly with the National Panhellenic Society for the betterment of fraternal brotherhood. The officers, Irene Sherman, president; Virginia Tye, vice-president; Helen McCoy, secretary; Sandy Fleming, treasurer; and Jean Wilson, sergeant-at-arms, have done a fine job of making the activities of the sorority a success for the past year.

The Union College Bulldogs last year made one of the most impressive records on the gridiron ever compiled by a Bulldog eleven, winning five games, losing one, and tying one. Conceded very little chance to win more than three games at the start of the season by prognosticators, the Bulldogs came through with convincing victories over Holbrook, Rio Grande, Hiwassee, and Tusculum, beating the latter team twice during the course of the campaign. Transylvania was held to a scoreless deadlock by an injury-riddled Union team, and Georgetown used its superior weight and number of reserves to wear down the gold-clad battlers in the last quarter, after being played on even terms until the beginning of the fatal fourth frame.

Union opened the season against Holbrook, traditional first-game opponent, and, although playing raggedly throughout the contest, triumphed by virtue of two quick scoring thrusts in the first and fourth quarters, 14-0. Archie Peace passed to Eddie Lawson for the initial tally, and Bill Nau registered the second six-pointer on a 12-yard dash around the Holbrook left terminal, late in the final period. Steve Kasman converted from placement following both touchdowns. The unusually hot weather affected the energy of both teams, and the Bulldogs, for the most part, contented themselves with guarding their margin. Occasionally Holbrook pulled an impressive defensive play.

The Bulldogs traveled to Greenville, Tennessee, the following week and downed Tusculum Pioneers (under the lights), 15-6, in the first meeting of the two teams during the season. Union's offense displayed decided improvement in this tussle, ripping through the opposing defense time after time for long gains, with Archie Peace and Bill Nau acting as spearheads in the onslaught. The work of Peace stood out especially. Not only was the little tailback hard to pull down when he had the ball tucked under his arm, but he was also highly efficient on defense. Union drew first blood early in the struggle when a host of Bulldog linemen broke through and blocked a Pioneer kick on the goal line. The ball bounded behind the double-stripes with the Tusculum man recovering, but the Bulldogs launched a drive from midfield that resulted in a marker, with Archie Peace carrying across from the ten. Kasman failed to kick the point. Tusculum began a desperate passing attack in the waning minutes of the second frame that netted the Tennesseans their lone score. Spargo, big end, took a pass over the goal line for the Pioneers' tally, but the try for point was frustrated by the hard-charging Bulldog forwards. Leading by a margin of only two points garnered from the safety, the Bulldogs roared back in the third period and manufactured another touchdown before the Pioneer defense could comprehend what was taking place. With Peace in the driver's seat, the Bulldogs started on their own thirty and hammered their way across without losing possession of the leather. Peace was helped considerably in the drive by the determined rushes of Kasman, who pushed his way through for short, but needed, yardage several times. The sustained march ended when Peace went across from the four. Kasman was successful in his try for point. Tusculum again tried desperately to connect with passes in order to pull up with the Bulldogs, but the majority of the heaves were broken up by the alert Union secondary.

Rio Grande was met next by the Bulldogs, the game being played on Teachers' Day during the U.C.E.A. convention. The Bulldogs probably played their worst game of the entire year against Rio Grande but wound up on the long end of a 12-0 score. With substitutes dotting the lineup, Union started out in fine fashion. Hughes Bennett, normally a blocking back but playing in the fullback slot on that afternoon, plunged over after five minutes of the first period had passed. The attempted point failed, and both teams lapsed into an exhibition of lazy pigskin-playing which was not broken until the last five minutes of the final frame, when the Bulldogs came to life long enough to rack up their last marker. Archie Peace broke the long monotony of ragged performing by breaking off tackle for 15 yards and the score.

The Bulldogs played their second foreign game of the season October 18 against Transylvania at Lexington and managed to hold the heavy Pioneers to a scoreless tie. The Union squad, badly beset by injuries and various ailments, could not put the regular lineup on the field, but the players who were free from injuries made up for the handicap by battling the favored Bluegrass boys on even terms during the whole game. The fine kicking of Kasman did more than any other single factor to stave off defeat for the battered Bulldogs. Called on to kick practically every time Union got possession of the ball, the big fullback came through admirably and rightfully earned the praise heaped upon him by Lexington sports writers the following day. The Bulldog offense bogged down completely against the Pioneers, partly because of injuries sustained by Peace and Nau. The splendid work done by the Union front wall in repelling the repeated Transy thrusts at scoring was the bright spot of the game for the Bulldogs. Big Bill Carigan was a powerhouse in the line, as were Cartmill and Clifton. The Pioneers had little trouble advancing the ball around midfield but found the going tougher inside the Bulldog thirty. On numerous occasions, Pioneer backs penetrated to the thirty with their drives but could go no farther.

The Bulldogs returned to Barbourville the following Saturday and tumbled Tusculum for the second time, 19-7, with the offense reaching its greatest heights of the season. Union scored in the first quarter on a long pass from Nau to Rice, with Rice taking the pass on the Tusculum twenty and twisting his way across the goal line. Kasman was wide in his attempt from placement for the conversion. During the second frame, the Bulldog offense began to click on all cylinders, and all the remaining points were tallied in the short space of five minutes. Archie Peace scored the second Bulldog marker on a pass from Nau, and Jack Peace went over for the last tally. Both tries for conversion from placement were blocked. Tusculum waited until the last quarter to score. The Pioneers recovered a fumble on the Bulldog ten-yard line and scored in four plays, following with a successful conversion.

The Union gridders invaded Tennessee for the second time in the season when they engaged Hiwassee at Madisonville, winning 20-7. With the field soggy from a steady downpour of rain, the Bulldogs did not score until the second quarter. In this frame, Archie Peace scored twice to ice the game for Union. Kept on the sidelines because of the ankle injury suffered earlier in the season, Peace was injected into the fray with about ten minutes remaining in the first half and promptly turned the scoreless game into a rout. The Bulldog tailback first scored on a fake pass and run, taking the oval over from the twelve. Later, he crashed over from the four. Kasman converted on line crashes, and the Bulldogs held a commanding lead at half-time. The Bulldogs tallied their third and last touchdown early in the third frame. Stevens, lanky end, took a short pass from Peace over the center of the line and slithered forty yards for the score. The try for point failed, and the Bulldogs' scoring for the afternoon was terminated. Hiwassee pushed its touchdown across in the third after a series of pass completions had placed the ball in position.

With nothing but the tie with Transylvania blemishing their record, the Bulldog eleven journeyed to Georgetown for the final game of the season, and the big Tiger team, outweighing the Bulldogs 10 pounds per man, put on the steam in the last quarter to down Union, 27-7. The score stood 7-7 at the half, with Georgetown having scored in the first frame, and Union tallying in the second on an aerial from Peace to Armstrong. At the end of the third quarter the score was unchanged, but the quarter gave evidence of the telling effect that the Tiger manpower was having, and the last frame was to bear this out. Early in the final quarter, Georgetown tallied the second of its four six-pointers on a pass. Hardly had the cheering in the Tiger section of stands died down until Georgetown had tallied another touchdown, using the same tactics employed in the second. The tired Union line simply did not have the stamina to cope with the fresh reserves sent in by Georgetown, and minutes later the Tigers scored their last marker, after a ruling by the officials on pass interference by a Union man had put the ball on the three-yard mark. The defeat was doubly disappointing for the Bulldogs in that it destroyed their chances for an undefeated season.

Eight seniors wound up their careers on the gridiron against the victorious Tigers. Those playing their final game were Archie Peace, Bill Nau, Hughes Bennett, and Steve Kasman, backs; and Jim Howard, Fred Stevens, J. C. Cartmill, and Bill Carigan, linemen. Needless to say, these men will be sorely missed next year.

Four Bulldog players were accorded post-season honors in December. Archie Peace was named on the Courier-Journal all-K.I.A.C. team at one of the halfback spots; Nau, Kasman, and Cartmill received honorable mention. Cartmill was placed on the first team of the Associated Press' K.I.A.C. selections, with the other three getting mention. At the annual athletic banquet, Archie Peace was named captain; and J. C. Cartmill, co-captain.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Union College basketball team of 1940-41 proved itself a worthy representative of Union on the hardwood. Despite the fact that Bill Carigan, high scoring forward, was lost early in the year, and the squad plagued by influenza and other woes, the Bulldogs succeeded in molding a fine record for the season, winning thirteen and dropping seven contests. To supply an appropriate finish for the year's court activities, the Bulldog cagers then went to the finals of the K.I.A.C. tournament, held in Richmond, being defeated by Murray in the last round.

The Bulldogs highlighted a twenty-game schedule with a seven-day road trip through the south, including the states of Tennessee, Georgia, and Florida. Two other road treks were taken during the year, although they were of shorter duration than the Florida journey. One trip took the Bulldogs into the eastern part of Kentucky, and another into eastern Tennessee. Three foes were encountered on each jaunt.

Union started the year in great fashion, winning nine of the first ten games played. Then trouble in copious amounts began to appear. First of the misfortunes was the loss of Bill Carigan, who was called into active service by the mobilization of the National Guard. Then injuries and influenza began to take their toll in the squad's ranks, and at one time Coach Bacon had but seven men available for duty. These major mishaps all occurred during a stretch when the Bulldogs were meeting most of their strongest opponents, a fact which might account for the losses sustained at that time. Eastern, Berea, and Georgetown were on the schedule during the series of misfortunes, and Union copped but one of the games played against these three, although the scores were close in all of the fracas. Other strong opponents met by the Bulldogs during the season were the University of Florida, Stetson, Maryville, Lincoln Memorial University, Transylvania, and Rollins.

If Bulldog supporters were disappointed at the team's showing during the year against some of the K.I.A.C. foes, they were definitely heartened by the performances in the K.I.A.C. tourney. The Bulldogs waded through to the finals in championship fashion, disposing of Centre, Morehead, and Kentucky Wesleyan along the route, and not experiencing too much difficulty in carrying out the process. Morehead, who defeated the Bulldogs twice on the regular card, was victimized by a margin of ten points, and the other two adversaries by larger margins.

Gilbert Samples, elongated center, was placed on the all-K.I.A.C. net squad for the second straight year at the end of the tourney. Samples received the second highest number of votes from the judges, which gives some indication as to the respect they held for his ability.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

It is under the direction of these attractive co-eds that the women's intramurals are carried on. Organized in the fall of 1938 as a chapter of the state W.A.A., this organization has progressed tremendously in the line of physical development of the women of Union College. All women registered as students of Union College are members automatically, but the business of the W.A.A. is carried on by this council composed of four representatives from each class. Under the capable guidance of Mrs. Mary Campbell Gray, sponsor, and the local officers (Helen McCoy, president; Mary Elizabeth Hill, vice-president; Jean Wilson, secretary; Sandy Fleming, recording secretary; and June Woods, treasurer) over one hundred girls have enjoyed the privileges of intramurals this year. Such games as basketball, volleyball, tennis, archery, ping-pong, and shuffleboard are a few of the many attractions that the W.A.A. offers to the athletically-inclined girls of the school.

Not only is the W.A.A. active on the local campus, but it also plays an important role in state affairs. This year five girls attended the annual state convention, which was held at Centre College. At this convention one of our representatives, Sandy Fleming, was elected publicity chairman of the state W.A.A.

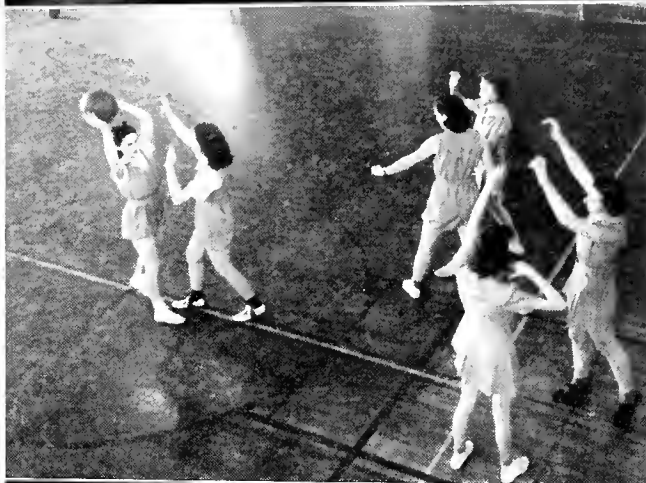

Awards are given each year to those girls who have made certain achievements in the various fields of activities.
